

Summary of Agency Employment

AUG 1983

HENRY S. ROWEN

From July of 1981 to September of 1983, I was Chairman of the National Intelligence Council. The Council consists of the National Intelligence Officers who are responsible for working with CIA and other parts of the Intelligence Community to produce National Intelligence Estimates and other assessments. They also provide staff support to the Director of Central Intelligence, work with counterparts in policy-making agencies, put out national intelligence warning assessments, and maintain active contact with experts inside and outside the government.